

FRANK NORMAL MAN. ALIENISTS REPORT

Burns Says State's Case Is Crumbling in Commenting on Physicians' Findings.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 26.—The Atlanta physicians delegated to visit Leo M. Frank in his cell reported that they found the prisoner entirely normal in every respect and could find no indications of degeneracy of the type Jim Conley described on the witness stand, according to a statement given out by Frank's attorneys. The best alienists in Atlanta were selected, and their report was at the instance of Detective Burns.

"Their report was just what I thought it would be," said Burns. "It was on the charge of perversion that Frank was convicted and not on the charge of murder."

Frank's attorneys and Burns in commenting on the affidavits that Conley had confessed to the murder of Mary Phagan declared that the State's case was crumbling. Frank's attorneys generally are anxious to get the advantage of several days' schooling before the beginning of a preliminary hearing.

Washington owners, including Melvin C. Hazen, manager of the show; Lee Hirschman and Beale R. Howard, have their horses on the grounds and are putting them through daily workouts. Mr. Hirschman will show a novice hunter, which he much expects, while Mr. Hazen will bring out a green hunter, Virginia Boy, said to be an unusually promising colt. He also will show Richmond, which captured several blue ribbons in the hunting events at the grounds last year, and at the Maryland State Fair at Laurel.

Washington horsemen who are planning to participate in the show have put in a busy week schooling their entries. Among those who rode at the grounds yesterday were W. Sinclair Bowen, Miss Edith Howard, Miss Ruth Hirschman, and Miss Helen Buchanan. Tickets for the preliminary tour on sale today at the office of T. Arthur Smith, 125 F street northwest.

Postal Station G May Be Made Financial Branch

Branch station G, of the city postoffice, may be replaced by a financial branch after the consolidation in the new postoffice building, according to Postmaster Prager, who made the announcement in a speech last night at the fifteenth annual banquet of the employees of station G at the Hotel Sterling.

A financial branch is one where stamps are sold and other business carried on. It has no carriers, sorting clerks, or similar employees. The postmaster expressed pleasure that it is soon to be in touch with the men employed at station G, and said he had heard much of the efficiency of the men.

Speeches were made by L. J. Robinson, assistant postmaster; Edward C. Jones, foreman of carriers; H. Simmons, assistant superintendent of station G; Charles Taubersmidt, C. F. Hearn, John L. Nolan, and D. C. Miller. W. E. Monroe was toastmaster.

Scouts Now Serve as Takoma Fire Brigade

Troop No. 21, under the guidance of Scoutmaster Fred L. Harries, has been commissioned as the fire brigade of Takoma Park, Md. Howard L. Harries, the new scout of the troop, reported that at the patrol held last Thursday night, the patrol leaders were given instructions in the organization of the brigade.

The troop has been divided into three patrols, each having charge of a home fire located in different sections of the town. A complete list with telephone calls is in the hands of each patrol leader and in case of fire he must notify the boys assigned to him on his run to the fire station.

Friday afternoon Captain Sikes, of Fritchwood Engine Company No. 2, came out and under his instructions the boys were taken out and overhauled and the hose tested and the boys were given a good fire drill.

Saturday night after the regular meeting there was a presentation of merit badges for leather working to Scouts J. D. Eggleston, H. Greenfield and L. Harrison. The fire patrol was to visit the D. C. Veteran Volunteer Fireman's Association at its next meeting.

Boys Surprise Petworth Troop of Girl Scouts

The scouts of Troop No. 22, sprung a surprise on the Petworth troop of Girl Scouts a week ago yesterday, that resulted in a good time for everybody. Learning that the girls were to hike to Chain Bridge that day, the boys assembled early Saturday morning at the home of Assistant Scoutmaster (Captain) and reached the Virginia side and while some of the scouts prepared a camp dinner, others were stationed as pickets to look for the girls. When the girls arrived there was a meal waiting for them and everybody had an appetite. No one went hungry, but there were no leftovers. After the meal the signal and first aid corps gave a series of drills and a fishing party was later organized. The boys who made up the party included Scouts George Gail, Charles Springfield, Fred Wehe, Howe Painter, Samuel Moore, Fred Strieby, Robert Seckinger, Arthur Knapp, Howard Loney, Lamont Pitcher, Ernest Graves, Joseph Langford and Clifford Moore.

Getting Camp on Bay In Shape for Scouts

Scout Commissioner Edgar S. Martin spent Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at Camp Archibald Butt superintending the work of fixing up the new boat dock and remodeling the mess hall. He was aided by Scoutmaster Junkin, who piloted the launch Roy Scout down the river and back up the bay, with a loaded scow in tow, and Scoutmaster Taylor joined them Saturday morning.

The camp site is reported to be more alluring than ever, and it is certain to be one of the liveliest places in Maryland this summer.

Opposes Commission Rule

The commission form of government for the District, with commissioners appointed by the President, was strongly opposed by Congressman James T. Lloyd, of Missouri, in an address last night at the University Club on "The Variety of Government Under the United States Flag." The government of the District was declared to be unique.

Twenty-four Scouts Receive Merit Badges

Twenty-four successful scouts received their merit badges last week, a total of thirty-eight trophies being divided among them. The organization of the merit badge faculty has proven a great impetus for the boys. There has been a notable increase in the number of applications and the scouts are taking up a wider range of subjects.

Those receiving badges this week were: Ross Anderson, craftsmanship; Z. A. Biggs, bee farming; Robert Bonde, fireman; Harry Chamberlain, life saving; Robert D. Chisom, fireman; Stewart Coates, painting; Robert Crutt, fireman; swimming; first aid; handicraft; Robert L. Ensign, first aid; Robert G. Gard, swimming; handicraft; first aid; Donald Gates, first aid; Lloyd Harrison, marksmanship; William Kroll, pathfinding; fireman; Edward S. Fardee, life saving; Lawrence Prentice, business; Frank A. Quinn, swimming; astronomy; A. S. Rippey, fireman; Charles Rymer, fireman; Mark Shoemaker, forestry; Greene T. Smallwood, astronomy; camping; Edwin G. Speakman, astronomy; forestry; Clifford Speer, fireman; Otto Stiles, life saving; fireman; carpentry; handicraft; masonry; Charles Wright, marksmanship; life saving; James D. Eggleston, poultry farming.
